Belgian cuisine favours the seasonal dishes that accompany the country's famous beers. In Bruges, good food is just a few steps away along the city's beautiful streets. These are our selections of the best restaurants in Bruges. Hertog Jan The only restaurant in Bruges that holds three Michelin stars, the Hertog Jan quickly rose in popularity among the gourmards for chef Gert De Mangeleer's signature dishes. His partner, Joachim Boudens, was voted Belgium's first sommelier as well as an ambassador for Belgian beer. Located in an 180-year-old barn, the restaurant overlooks a lush garden. The restaurant uses ingredients grown on its own farm, changing menus with seasonal products available. The Hertog Jan integral menu features an extensive discovery of what the restaurant has to offer and can be combined with wine from the sommelier. Choose from the a la carte menu for dishes such as Royal Belgian Caviar and Black Carpenters truffle. hertog-jan.com Tweets by hertogjanbrugge Ter Loepe With a CV that includes the Sea Grill in Brussels and the Elite Traveler Top 100 Restaurant Hof Van Cleve, Chef Kristof has been awarded only by Bruges' coveted Michelin stars. Flemish Venice boasts one of the highest Michelin star rates per capita in the world and rivals Brussels as the gourmet capital of Belgium. In total, Bruges and nearby Knokke-Heist, 17 km away, total up to more Michelin stars (14 + 12) than any other European city except Paris and London. Bruges has two 3-star restaurants, including London, and more than anywhere else in Europe except Paris and San Sebastian. The overall Gault-Millau ranking is also stunning. Tiny Bruges ranks 11th among European cities for the total number of toques, and is only beaten in the number of 3-toques restaurants from Paris, Lyon and Berlin. Gourmet restaurants The Red Michelin Guide is the international reference to restaurant evaluation. The guide awards one to three stars to a small number of high quality restaurants. A star shows a very good cuisine in its class, a two-star rating represents excellent cuisine, worth a detour, and three stars are awarded to restaurants that offer excellent cuisine, worth a special trip. The following restaurants have been awarded stars by Michelin Belgium & Luxembourg 2012. Gault Millau Guide is the other powerful French restaurant guide. It is known as Gayot in English-speaking countries. It scores restaurants on a scale of 1 to 20, awarding one toque to restaurants with a score of 13 or 14, two toques for those who score 15 or 16, three toques for 17 and 18, and four toques for the top score of 19/20. Five toques are awarded to some countries such as France for restaurants that score 19.5/20. The Gault Millau score appears in parentheses after the Michelin star or stars.
